

samedi GmbH is a young and innovative company located in the heart of Berlin. We developed a Software as a Service (SaaS) solution to form a network of partners in the health care sector. samedi® supports the coordination between doctors, patients and insurance companies and offers a wide range of possibilities to improve the collaboration of everyone involved in the health sector. This includes for example the online case management and online appointment booking for patients. Our product is already being used by tens of thousands of doctors and medical professionals for over five million patients. For the further development of our nationally and internationally awarded product (from LeWeb, Financial Times, German Government) we are looking for a

JavaScript / Ruby on Rails Software Engineer (m/f)

As a JavaScript / Ruby on Rails developer you support our IT department with the long-term development and improvement of our product as well as the implementation of new features. Furthermore you are helping with the day-to-day tasks, especially with bug-fixing and corrections. We are looking for experienced, team-oriented and responsible employees who are able to solve problems independently by using and expanding their knowledge.

Your area of responsibility includes:

- Write high quality and secure that plays well among different browsers
- Help define and develop new features
- Code refactoring and improvements to reduce the complexity and increase the agility of the system
- Train and guide other developers in JavaScript / Ruby on Rails best practices

Your profile:

- You successfully completed a professional training or study course in information technology
- JavaScript or Ruby on Rails could easily be your second native language
- You have a solid knowledge of one or more frameworks: ExtJS, Backbone or AngularJS
- Ideally you are familiar with HTML, CSS, SASS and LESS and the technology behind these stylesheet languages
- Test culture

We offer you:

- An attractive position with various possibilities to advance your personal development in an expanding company
- Exciting and diverse activities as well as new challenges and the possibility to gain a lot of experience
- Being part of a leading eHealth-provider at Europe's technological forefront
- A familiar corporate atmosphere with team-events, shared Monday breakfasts, table football etc.
- A fast-acting, creative and young team that works with a lot of passion and fun to realize new ideas to fundamentally improve the healthcare sector for doctors and patients

If you think you are the right person for this job and fulfill the requirements, we are looking forward to your application. Please specify the first possible date of availability as well as your salary expectations.

samedi GmbH
Hessische Straße 11
10115 Berlin

Email: hr@samedi.de